Chemical Weaponry: A Continuing Challenge

Edward M Spiers

Committee that all possessor States must demonstrate a continued. Destroying chemical weapons is hard enough – but Syria is a new. The continuing challenge of chemical arms control then will be to sustain the effort required to make the initial treaty evolve in such a way as to make countries.